

SONG FOR SEAN

©2009 Kevin Bulmer Enterprises
By Kevin Bulmer (SOCAN)

From the space where the angels fly
In the air where spirits rise
I see you with hands to the sky
Asking why?

From a storm of heartache and tears
From a life of too much fear
It suddenly all seems so clear
Please don't cry

Like the horses thundering o'er the plains
Heart set free, soul untamed
No horizon
There is no pain

The river dances toward the sea
All things as they're meant to be
You don't understand
You will one day

Down there on humbled knees
I know you wanted the best for me
Take heart, cause mine's at peace
Please don't cry

(Interlude)

Like the horses thundering o'er the plains
Heart set free, soul untamed
No horizon
There is no pain

The river dances toward the sea
All things as they're meant to be
You don't understand
You will one day

I only hope you can hear me now
And find solace somehow
A voice need not be loud
To show it's there

Every whisper of autumn's breeze
All the colours in the changing leaves
In anything that brings you peace ....